

COMPETITION INTRODUCTION

Revisions and Online Workshop

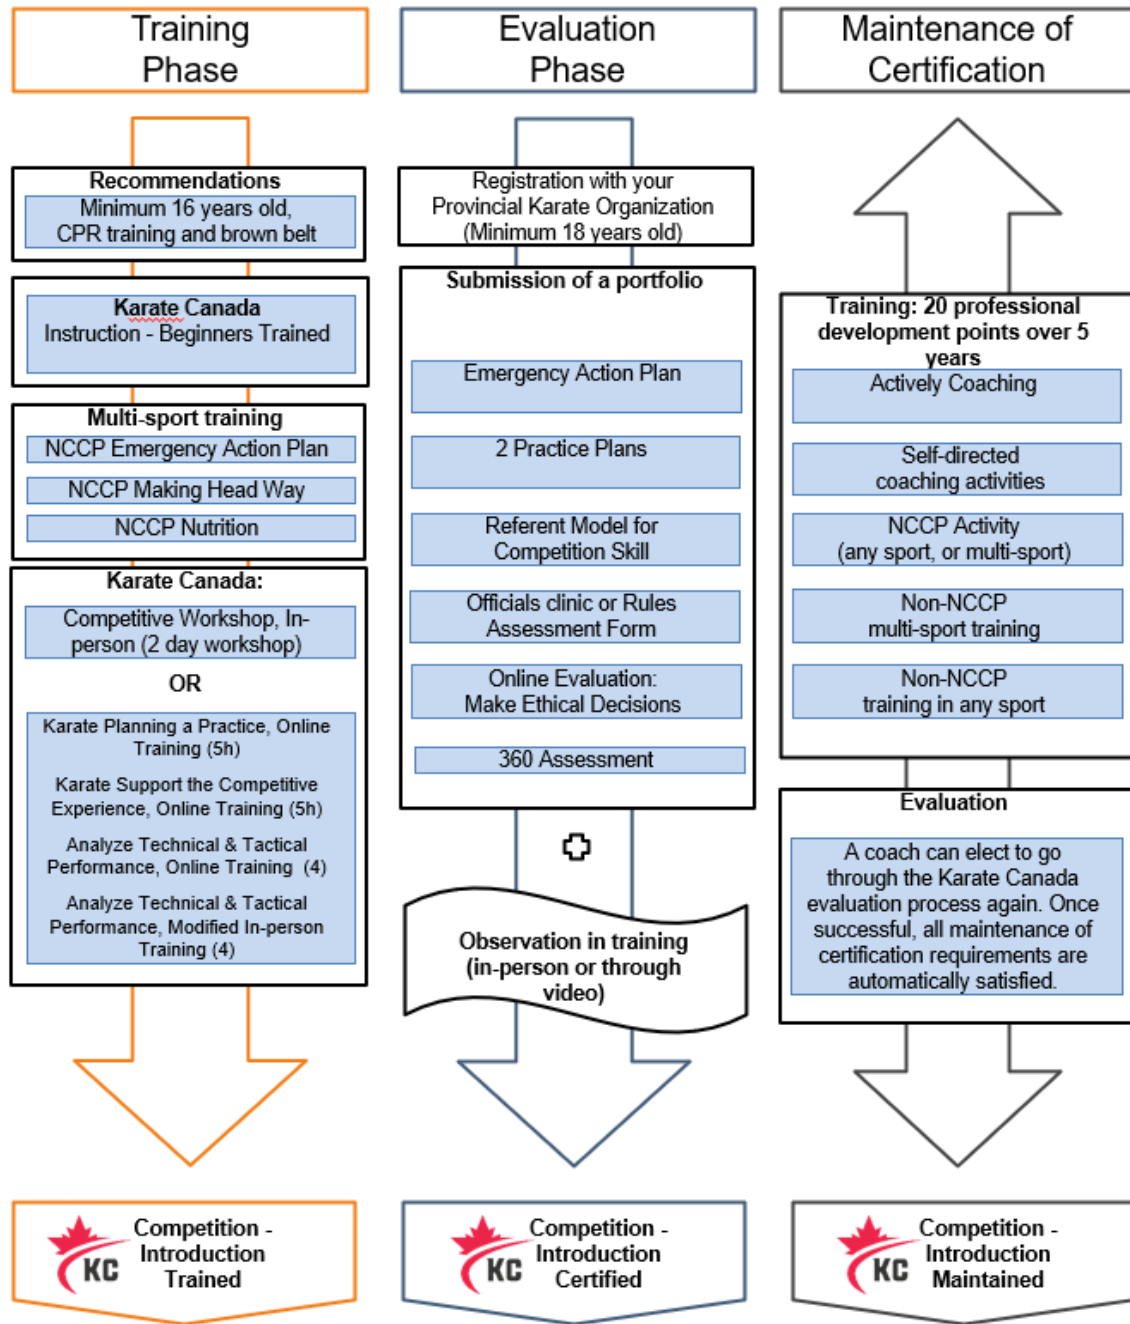

June 9th, 2021

The NCCP Competition Introduction (CI) workshop has recently been revised and adapted for online delivery. Please find some important information to help PTSOs continue to offer and manage the program within their Province/Territory. This information will be reflected in the updated version of the Karate Canada NCCP Operations Manual, but until then, please follow the guidelines below for anything pertaining to CI.

The updated version of the CI pathway can be found below. You will notice 3 changes:

1. The free e-learning module Making Head Way (MHW) is now required in the training phase versus the evaluation phase. Emergency Action Plan (EAP) is now a stand-alone free e-learning and is required in the training phase as well.
2. The sport nutrition section previously included in Support the Competitive Experience is now a stand-alone e-learning available through the Locker for $20.
3. The pathway now includes an option for online delivery of the workshop. The online option is a blended approach comprised of 3 modules taught virtually and 1 modified in-person module. A coach needs to attend all 4 modules, the multi-sport training as well as the Instruction Beginner workshop to receive the CI trained status (see the pathway on p.2).

The in-person workshop costs are suggestions and can be adjusted by PTSOs depending on their own organizational costs (room and equipment rental, etc.).

The online workshop costs and any Learning Facilitators' honorariums must be applied as is by all PTSOs.

KC members can take online NCCP workshops from any recognized PTSOs, but it is their responsibility to send proof of their membership to the organizers as we have different prices for non-members. The organizing PTSO will collect the registration fees and will be responsible for the facilitator's honorarium. PTSOs can always limit registration to their own members if they want. Twice a year, KC will invoice PTSOs for the return fee. This fee can be charged to the participant at registration or defrayed by the PTSO when invoiced by KC.

ONLINE WORKSHOP

The online workshop is delivered in 3 blocks of 4-5 hours (PaP 5h, SCE 5h, AT&TP 4h) plus the modified in-person module (4h). Each block offered online can also be divided in 2 x 2-3h sessions. Blocks can be delivered at the PTSO's convenience, but we suggest not on the same day. A maximum of 12 participants can register for each module except for the modified in-person module for which registration can go up to 20. When planning for the modified in-person module, it is the PTSOs responsibility to respect any governmental and health regulations established within their province/territory following the COVID-19 pandemic.

Coaches can register for part of the online workshop if the scheduling allows it. For example, a coach could register only for Support the Competitive Experience if it was offered as a stand-alone online course. On the opposite, a coach may not do the same for the in-person workshop. One might not mix and match either. For example, if a coach already took Planning a Practice online and registers for the full CI in-person workshop, there will be no fee adjustment and the coach is expected to attend the full workshop.

LEARNING FACILITATORS

KC recently went through a content revision of the CI workshop. All current Learning Facilitators (LF) must follow an “update training” before they can deliver the CI workshop.

The online CI workshop can only be delivered by LFs who have been trained/certified to deliver online. This new distinction has been added in the Locker so one can find the information in a Coach Developer’s transcripts.

Contact Karate Canada for more information on LF training.
